YOU ARE A SAGITTARIUS/ROOSTER

The Chinese & Western Astrology Report

The New Astrology report blends Western signs with Chinese signs and comes up with 144 "New" signs. If you are a Sagittarius and were born in the OX year 1949, then you are a Sagittarius/Ox. Simple. Take your regular, familiar astrological sign and match it with the animal sign of the year you were born. And you have found your New astrological sign.

Everybody has a dual nature. Some people are naturally greedy and grasping about money. But surprise! These same people can be generous to a fault in emotional ways, strewing sentiment and affection on their entourage like Santa Claus on a gift binge. People are complicated. They baffle us with their contradictory behavior. We even confuse ourselves with our own haunting ambivalences. How come you get along with Jack and care so much about him when in fact he gets on your nerves? Jack has an abrasive personality. You know that. But you can't help liking the guy. He fascinates you. Why? It's a dilemma. With a solution.

The New Astrology attempts to help us understand human behavior within the universe through the "marriage" of occidental and oriental astrology.

The Chinese have divided time differently from us Westerners. Whereas we have 100-year centuries, the Chinese have periods of sixty years. We divide our centuries into ten decades. The Chinese divide their sixty-year spans into "dozencades" or twelve-year periods.

In the West, we divide our year up twelve times by its suns. Each 30 day month has its own astrological name. Every year our cycle begins anew. In the East, each year within the twelve-year dozencade has its own animal name. At the end of each twelve-year period the Chinese cycle begins anew.

The twelve occidental months have celestial sign names: Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius, Pisces. The twelve oriental years have animal sign names: Rat, Ox, Tiger, Cat, Dragon, Snake, Horse, Goat, Monkey, Rooster, Dog, Pig. In both cases the astrological sign name refers to the character of people born under its influence. The cycles of names always repeat in the same order.

So, in fact, everybody in the world has not just one, but two main astrological signs: a Western "month" sign and an Oriental "year" sign. One sign is complementary to the other. Taken together, they show us more about the individual than either one can on its own. In the New Astrology, if someone is born in Aries and is also born in a Horse year, that person's New Astrology sign is Aries/Horse. Aries/Horses, as you will see, are not the same as Aries/Cats or Aries/Tigers.

There are 144 New Astrology signs. Each is a combined East/West sign. Through the New Astrology we can learn to get along better with our friends, family and loved ones. We can find out why we tend not to harmonize with certain people. We can improve our knowledge of them, and of ourselves.

Western and Chinese Astrology Ruling Elements:

Western astrology uses four ruling elements:

Fire, Air, Earth, Water. Each Western astrological sign is ruled by one of these elements:

Fire:

* Aries, Leo, Sagittarius.

* Fire signs are characterized by Movement, Obsession, Energy.

Air :

* Gemini, Libra, Aquarius.

* Air signs are characterized by Receptiveness, Intellect, Aspiration.

Earth:

* Taurus, Virgo, Capricorn.

* Earth signs are characterized by Function, Practicality, Solidity.

Water:

* Cancer, Scorpio, Pisces;

* Water signs are characterized by Emotion, Compassion, Perception.

Chinese astrology uses five ruling elements: Metal, Water, Wood, Fire and Earth. The animal signs are governed by only four of these. All five elements are used elsewhere in Chinese astrology, but for our purposes in The New Astrology we need only know:

Metal:

* Positive Metal-Monkey, Dog.

* Negative Metal-Rooster, Pig.

Water:

* Positive Water-Rat.

* Negative Water-Ox.

Wood:

* Positive Wood-Tiger, Dragon

* Negative Wood-Cat.

Fire:

* Positive Fire-Horse;

* Negative Fire-Snake, Goat.

Planets:

Each sign in Western astrology is ruled by one or more of ten planets or heavenly bodies. These are the "stars" astrologers are always said to be gazing at. The planets influence a sign's character. Your position in the heavens helps to predict the future.

Aries is ruled by Mars representing: Impulse, Action, Bravery.

Taurus is ruled by Venus representing: Acceptance, Vanity, Love.

Gemini is ruled by Mercury representing: the Intellect, Change, Adaptability.

Cancer is ruled by the Moon representing: Receptivity, Emotion, Viscera.

Leo is ruled by the Sun representing: Assertiveness, Will, Majesty.

Virgo is ruled by Mercury representing: Analysis, Absorption, Logic.

Libra is ruled by Venus representing: Sociability, Persuasion, Luxury.

Scorpio is ruled by Mars and Pluto representing Courage, Creation, Passion.

Sagittarius is ruled by Jupiter representing: Expansion, Vision, Justice.

Capricorn is ruled by Saturn representing: Solitude, Rigidity, Ambition.

Aquarius is ruled by Saturn and Uranus representing: Individuality, Cosmic Consciousness, Obligation.

Pisces is ruled by Neptune and Jupiter representing: Enigma, Inspiration, Compassion.

Chinese astrology does not concern itself with celestial bodies. If Chinese astrologers look to nature for influence, they consult the climatic changes on Earth, the seasons or the moon's effects on the Earth.

Qualities:

Western astrology uses three different qualities: Cardinal, Fixed and Mutable.

CARDINAL: Aries, Cancer, Libra, Capricorn-Dynamic, Authoritative, Active, Energetic.

FIXED: Taurus, Scorpio, Leo, Aquarius-Concrete, Limited, Purposeful, Conscientious.

MUTABLE: Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius, Pisces-Moving, Adaptable, Harmonizing, Versatile.

Are the Yin and the Yang Qualities Too?

Yes. In Chinese astrology, yin and yang are qualities. But yin and yang are far more powerful than our qualities because yin and yang are the two major and only forces in the Chinese philosophical universe. For them, everything present in the universe is either yin or else it is yang. Everything. Tables, chairs, light bulbs, cousins, aunts, uncles and kitchen sinks!

In a way, yin and yang can be compared, in Western culture, to the application in certain languages of the qualities of "masculine" or "feminine" to inanimate objects or intangible nouns. Though it does not seem to make sense, in French a table is feminine. A log is feminine. A shoe is also feminine. Parks are masculine. Lakes too. Feet are masculine. So are eyes and foreheads. But mouths and even teeth are feminine. Worry is masculine. So are gossip and lipstick and panty hose.

Though we may want to look for sexual significance in the application of gender to nouns, there is none. That's what makes it so difficult to remember from one language to the next whether a noun is considered masculine or feminine. Is the application of gender to nouns then perfectly arbitrary? Well, it must have come from somewhere. But nobody knows exactly how, when or why.

There are no genders in the Chinese language. But, without saying how, when or why, Chinese philosophers can feel whether a thing or a person or an idea is yin or yang. It's just there. A known fact. Yin is rooted in the sun. Its goal is darkness. Yang is rooted In the Earth. Its goal is light.

Like everything else, each Chinese animal sign is either yin or yang.

YIN: Rat, Ox, Monkey, Cat, Dog, Pig.

YANG: Horse, Goat, Tiger, Rooster, Dragon, Snake

What is Yin and What is Yang?

Yin:

The Chinese say that yin people are mainly interested in what happens in groups. They are frequently preoccupied with the organization of collective or communal events. They are attracted to politics. They are self-confident. They trust nobody. They need success to survive. They worship efficiency. They are always questing after well-being for themselves and for those they love or like. They have good health and long life but may be prone to accidents. They don't smile a lot. They dress conservatively. They are not spiritual. They love their families. They are material.

The way I see it, yin is open, civilized, interested in the good of others. Yin likes parties, feasts, holidays, sex and anything else that provides it with intense company. Yin is not feminine. But it is sometimes said to be subjective. Yin is active in the world. Other-directed. Public. It is different from and equal to yang.

Yang:

The Chinese say that yang people are loners. They are individualistic. They are meditative. They are spiritual. They smile a lot. They have no sense of groups or family. They have delicate health. They like to dress for show. They avoid chains of command. They love nature. They are nonmaterial. Their only goal in life is personal development. They are objective. They keep their own counsel.

The way I see it, yang is closed, unsociable, private. Yang likes books, music, gardening, long walks or anything that brings him closer to himself and nature. Yang is solitary. Self-directed. Yang's equilibrium comes from within.

Your Sun Sign (Western Astrology)

Your Sun sign is Sagittarius.

Month: Approximately November 23 - December 21.

Ruler: Jupiter.

Element: Fire.

Quality: Mutable.

Sagittarius is the ninth sign of the occidental zodiac.

Characteristics of Sagittarians:

CHEERFULNESS, VALOR, OPEN HANDEDNESS, HONOR, SOLICITUDE, REASON.

Sagittarian sins may include: OUTSPOKENNESS, VACILLATION, RECKLESSNESS, CARELESSNESS, BAD MANNERS, CONTRADICTION.

The first thing I notice as I glance down my list of Sagittarians is that they all have an amazing ability to care for others. I've been to about a hundred doctors in my frail little life and about fifty of them have been Sagittarians! These people just love being helpful.

Many Sagittarians are bachelors. I know quite a number of Sagittarian subjects who never got married or else got married once and after three days ran off and never tried it again. You are an independent human being who seeks adventure even in the banal. Seeing the same face every day in the same surroundings, doing and saying the same things, is not your idea of paradise. Rather, you could be content with a roof, a dog, plenty to eat (but nothing too exorbitantly expensive), a good position in the world and lots of dear friends around you to accept all your moral and material handouts.

Sagittarians are often planning or returning from a trip. You are drawn to travel and motion, always seeking to grow your knowledge of unusual cultures and exciting new places. Those group holidays where people tap on rocks in the Sahara or clamber over miles of rugged terrain to locate a lost shrine are loaded with curious Sagittarians. As a result, you prosper in jobs that permit mobility and allow you to meet new people. You function best in relationships that leave you lots of leeway to come and go as you please. You are happiest when learning and growing and are repelled by sameness and routine.

Sagittarian women are particularly success-oriented. You like to run things your way and are not usually squeamish about how many dead bodies you have to walk over in the process.

Need some advice on a dicey sublet or a special color of typewriter ribbon made only in the Philippines? Ask a Sagittarian. You will bounce right out and find the exact item. You notice everything, pay close attention to details, and remember everybody's birthday. If not by heart, then jotted down in a little date book specially kept for this purpose.

Sometimes, because you are very direct, Sagittarians tend to blurt out remarks that might have been better left unsaid. Even so, you have an outstanding ability to cheer people up. You love to chat and will always have a funny story to tell, a nice cup of hot tea prepared, or a bottle of something on ice. You are not easily shocked. You are the soul of comprehension and exude good will. People don't regret having you for a friend. Ever.

Your Chinese Astrology Sign

Your Chinese animal sign is ROOSTER.

Rooster is Yang. Rooster is the tenth sign of the Chinese horoscope.

Roosters have the following characteristics:

RESILIENCE CONSERVATISM ENTHUSIASM CHIC CANDOR HUMOR.

Rooster sins may include: COCKINESS PEDANTRY BOASTFULNESS BOSSINESS BLIND FAITH DISSIPATION.

To his exaggerated sense of style, the Rooster may bring a smidgen of boastfulness. Roosters like to discuss what and whom they know, where they buy their fishing gear, telescopes and kitchen equipment. In all cases, only the most trendy shops will do. You stay abreast of fashion and are among the first on their block to own whatever new gadget is going. In fact, all Roosters are dandies and feel that appearance is everything in life.

Aside from a burning desire for novelty and facade, you are quite independent. You don't need people around you applauding you every move. In your own right, you are strong and resilient. Reversals never finish you off. You will repeatedly rise from the ashes of bankruptcy, or bounce back within hours after a broken heart. Roosters are scrappers. You know how to resist despair.

All Roosters should have at least one secretary. You hate and despise bureaucratic chores and paperwork. You don't believe in filling in forms, waiting in line for a driver's license, or putting in an insurance claim.

You don't mind any new activity, adventure, trip, project, purchase or plan. When you get a bee in your bonnet about doing something, whether it's flying helicopters or learning to play the medieval harp, you go right ahead and do it. Nothing daunts you.

Roosters are generators. Energy radiates from you. You are perpetually on the move, ready for action and aware of everything - and I mean everything - around you.

Roosters don't cotton to authority either. If you are in command, then things will run smoothly - your way. Otherwise, bigwig beware! You hate to obey. Essentially, you are a candid person. You want to speak the truth at all costs.

Roosters are helpful. You go out of your way to assist friends and even strangers in all kinds of altruistic ways. You are funny and enjoy amusing others at parties or even at the office. Roosters are generous too. You will give loans or carry packages, drive someone to the dentist, and pick up the groceries - as long as no one tries to boss you around.

The most extraordinary thing about Roosters is their multitude of talents. You can do anything you set your mind to do and do it well.

A penchant for things creative is not unusual in Roosters. But despite an often near-genius for art or music or the pen, you only rarely choose an artistic career. You are found in professions where security is assured without excessive risk-taking. Although you seem outlandish and somewhat eccentric in dress or life style, deep down you are extremely conservative.

You are a Sagittarius/Rooster. The description below applies to you.

The Attributes of Sagittarius are:

CHEERFULNESS OUTSPOKENNESS OPENHANDEDNESS RECKLESSNESS
SOLICITUDE BAD MANNERS VALOR VACILLATION HONOR
CARELESSNESS REASON CONTRADICTION. "I see" Fire, Jupiter, Mutable.

The Attributes of Rooster are:

RESILIENCE COCKINESS ENTHUSIASM BOASTFULNESS CANDOR BLIND
FAITH CONSERVATISM PEDANTRY CHIC BOSSINESS HUMOR
DISSIPATION. "I overcome" Negative Metal, Yang.

SAGITTARIUS/ROOSTER:

Buoyancy characterizes the Sagittarian Rooster. You're atwitter with chitchat and agog with stories of adventure. Born under two of the most high-strung signs, you will be nervous, frank, candid, and a bit carried away with yourself. The word is enthusiasm but it's more than that. Sagittarius/Roosters are full of dash and élan. You cut an impressive figure wherever you go -and you go everywhere!

Despite the Sagittarius/Rooster's determination to cover half the globe by age thirteen, you are deep-down sensible and live far more carefully than the impression implies. You will have noble aims. You entertain a kind of Robin Hood objective to rob from the rich and give to the poor. Not that Sagittarius/Roosters are thieves. There is no evidence to that effect. But you can be secret pirates, leering at those ships that pass in the night loaded with jewels and furs yet denying yourself chicanery. The Sagittarian Rooster is a lover of truth. You deplore phoniness.

You are beset by your noble aims at a very young age. You would like to "do good" in the old-fashioned missionary sense. You may travel to Africa or India to help poor people, or you may stay closer to home and hire on as listeners in a suicide center. But whatever you undertake is often disappointing to your starkly honest natures. No charity can be perfect. There's always a hitch. Somebody has a hand in the till or funds are being misused or poor people in some distant land refuse help for religious reasons. Philanthropy is mined with disappointment.

For this reason, you are often seen as disenchanted, locked in an ideal that won't let you loose, but that doesn't work either. For some less resilient souls this sort of disillusion could lead to dejection and even self-pity. But not you. In a matter of days you will find yourself back on your feet, packing a suitcase for yet another foray into the wilds of humanitarianism. It's the old story: You can't keep a good person down.

Withal, the Sagittarius/Rooster has fairly good sense. You only seem reckless and act boasting and cocky. Underneath, you have your eye on the needle at all times and are monitoring your own progress critically. You realize that freedom and adventure are too attractive to you, and know that one day you must settle down or become patently ridiculous. When that day comes, you land yourself a cushy job with a serious title on the door, or simply sit down and start writing books about your many exploits.

Sagittarius/Roosters have good manners, yet sometimes you can be snappy and brusque. A harsh remark in the midst of a seemingly ordinary calm conversation is not unusual coming from you. You are brutally frank. You thrive on adversity and challenge. You are not afraid to stoop to conquer, and you care greatly for friends and family. In fact, I would say that no matter where you journey in a lifetime, you will remain forever tied to duty and responsibility at home, a free spirit locked in the body of a dutiful do-gooder. Maybe that's why Sagittarius/Roosters are always departing and leaving the barnyard door ajar, so they can return to their favorite prison when the chips are down.

LOVE:

Sagittarius/Roosters are not always lucky in love. You are by turns too demanding or too docile. In love affairs there is always a delicate gray area of deceit. Some things are better not discussed when it comes to passions and jealousies. Well, the Sagittarius/Rooster can't hack the deceit part. You want all the cards on the table and no double-dealing. Moreover, as you are so indomitable and fiercely dynamic, you often take up with someone who needs help, someone whose aims are not fixed, and who seems so adorably lost. This is what I call the Sagittarius "Popeye" complex. Good Samaritan time. Of course, pity is not love. But sometimes you can't tell the difference.

COMPATIBILITIES:

Aries Leo, Libra and Aquarius/Snakes find you irresistible, and the feeling is mutual. Leo, Libra and Aquarius/Oxen provide you with both pleasure and safety from harm. And the real joys of romance arrive in the form of Leo and/or Libra/Dragons. They are so-o-o-o-o impressive. Virgo and Gemini/Rooster subjects are no fun for you to keep around. Pisces/Dogs drive you mad with their incessant worrying, and Virgo and Pisces/Cats are far too bossy and unadventurous for you to put up with you for long.

HOME AND FAMILY:

The Sagittarius/Rooster's home will be spare yet elegant. Comfort is not the primary goal. Appearance and attractiveness come first. Having a "good address" helps, too. Not that Sagittarius/Rooster is a snob - far from it. But you are essentially conservative, prefer security to danger, and cannot tolerate messiness or disorder. So you often set up shop in a reputable area. You are gone much of the time so "home" is a dubious term at best to describe your digs.

Universal Psychic Guild <http://www.PsychicGuild.com>

You would love to be a parent. But where to find the time? And if Sagittarius/Rooster does settle down, how will you ever get free again to go trotting off to Brazil? The subject of children is a tricky one for you. It's yes and no and yes and no until one day it seems impossible. Sagittarius/Rooster is too peripatetic to be a parent.

PROFESSION:

All careers involving movement and travel suit you. Sagittarian Roosters are talkative and frequently never shut up in three languages. You have a natural ability to sort out details, and you are visionary about future trends and tuned in to fashions. You seek a cosmic view of your environment and indeed of the whole universe. You've got good sense and don't hesitate before making decisions. Sagittarius/Roosters get on with things. Born bossy, you nonetheless are not sure if you want that top job all that much. If you agree to be the chief in Chicago, then what will happen to the Indians in the Andes? The answer is a job where Sagittarius/Rooster travels a lot and gets to see a lot of progress in a short time. As an employee, you are happy as long as you see a light at the end of the tunnel - a promotion to tour guide, for example.

Jobs that may please the Sagittarius/Rooster are:

Photographer for National Geographic, UNESCO or peace corps volunteer, publisher of travel books, writer, performer, journalist, geologist, cartographer, doctor, missionary, roadie, pirate, prospector, logger, travel agent.

Some famous Sagittarius/Roosters:

Deanna Durbin, Tim Conway, Flip Wilson, Bernard Haller, Britney Spears, Caroline Kennedy, François de Closets.
